

Subject:

From: Sue Cogswell <sue_cogs@yahoo.com>

Date: Tue, 10 Apr 2007 17:30:12 -0700 (PDT)

To: Janet Davis <janet_davis@commerce.state.ak.us>

Janet...here's a photo of the SS Yukon that sank in PWS in Dec, 1946....almost everyone was rescued....and the 2nd photo is Capt. Antonio Valdes, head of ConocoPhillips Marine...and descendant of Antonio Valdes y Basan for whom Valdez is named! Thanks again for all of your help! Sue Note: forwarded message attached.

Subject: Ted Spencer calling.....

From: "Ted Spencer" <pegasus333@earthlink.net>

Date: Mon, 9 Apr 2007 13:41:23 -0700

To: <Steve@DiveAleutian.com>

CC: "Sue Cogswell" <sue_cogs@yahoo.com>

Hi Steve~

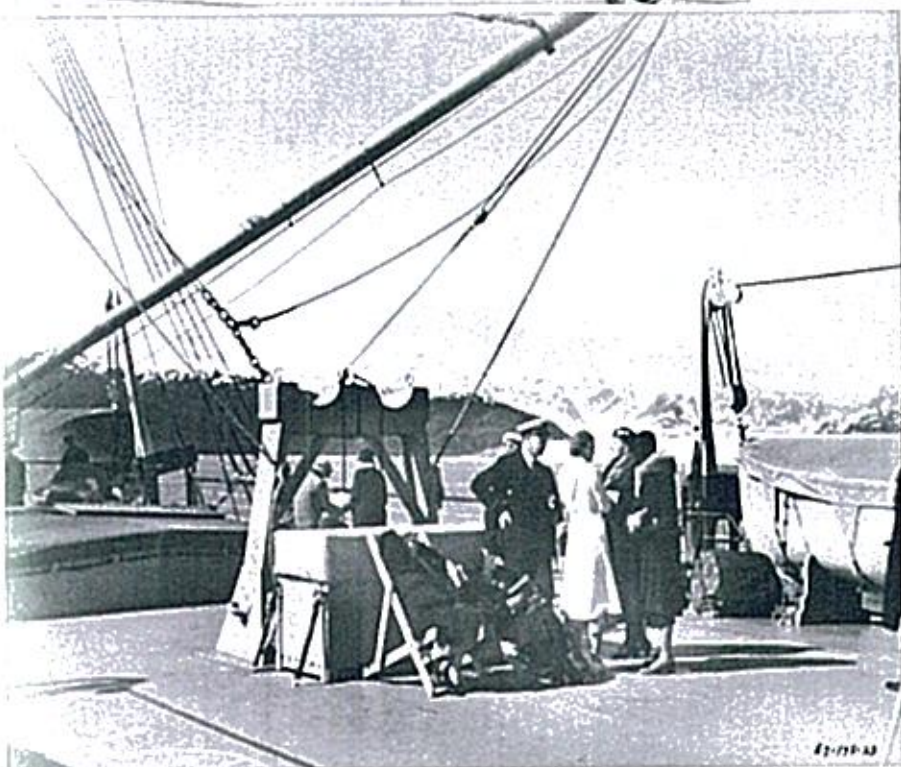

Hope that all is well with you. I've been pretty busy with exhibit construction for the Prince William Sound Museum and have just installed an exhibit about the Spanish exploration of Prince William Sound in 1790.

No Spanish ships were lost in Alaskan waters that I've been able to find....It would have been interesting to locate one of those.

I've found an outfit that can build pretty decent large scale ship models and I'm going to commission a few. One that is at the top of the list is the SS Yukon. The model will be 3 1/2 feet long.

I'm wondering what you may have in the way of plans that we can enlarge to size and if you have any photos or other information about the details of what would be on the surface of the decks. We have side views and I have two shots of deck details. These are pretty scant.....

The model builder wants to do a super detail job with photo etched parts etc. and I'd like to take advantage of his ambition and skills.